THE BRUENING DEATH MYSTERY

Testimony introduced at the inquest this week into the death of Marvin Bruening, a 20 year old resident of the Chapin community, indicated that his death was the result of a fiendish crime. The identity of the person or persons who administered arsenic into food or water, causing Marvin's fatal illness and illness of three others in the family, is unknown. The mystery of his death affords a challenge to law enforcement officers, who have worked diligently on the case since the youth was admitted to the hospital several weeks before death occurred. They will continue to delve into the mystery, sifting all evidence, questioning individuals who might add something to facts which have already been determined, with a goal of apprehending the person or persons responsible for the youth's death.

Morgan county has had few unsolved homicides. Its public officials are, and have been, men who strive to uphold the law. Numerous difficult criminal cases have been solved by perseverance. The public of this community, shocked by the death of a young man entering the prime of life, can be assured that the law enforcement agencies of the county are doing their best to unravel the Bruening arsenic case. Naturally, during investigations of this kind, the day-to-day progress of the probe cannot be revealed. The mystery of the Bruening boy's horrible death, after week's of suffering may be cleared up quickly, or continue unsolved for weeks or months. Regardless of time, we feel that our able law officers, aided by scientific crime detection methods, will bring the guilty to justice.

PLANNING FUTURE TRAFFIC SAFEGUARDS

Anyone who has ventured far on the nation's highways in recent years has seen how frequently inadequate they are for the needs of today's torrent of traffic.

The country's roads took an unmerciful pounding during World War II from the transport of men and materials. And little has been done since prewar days to repair or modernize them.

On top of this, our battered highways are carrying their heaviest load in history. More passenger vehicles and more trucks and buses are in use than ever before. Most of them are bigger, too.

The Public Roads Administration now has a new plan to do something about it. Over a 20-year span it would spend $11,266,000,000 to rebuild an extend U. S. highways in the sprawling interstate network.

No spectacular nationwide web of high-speed superhighways is contemplated. What is proposed instead is a pains-taking item-by-item improvement of the thousands of weak spots and danger points in the road system.

Some of the flaws the federal agency wants to eliminate: The bad curves which it says occur about once in every two miles of the federal aid interstate system.

The 667 unsafe bridges and 8185 spans that are too narrow.

The 21 dangerous tunnels, including six that engineers think should be by-passed by new main routes.

Some 17,000 miles of rural roads in the interstate system which are less than the proper minimum width of 22 feet.

The 21,000 potential death traps where highway visibility is so limited that peril attends any but the most cautious driving maneuvers.

Steady but relentless attack on all these weaknesses would not mean, however, that no attention would be given to wholly new roads or even to some superhighways.

The PRA's plans call for construction of four-lane, divided highways mainly in city and suburban areas where the crush of traffic is heaviest. Big expressways in the open country would be advocated only where there is special need, such as at bridge approaches or the tops of high hills.

The agency says planners believe small towns should be by-passed whenever possible, but think motorists generally want to go through rather than around the larger cities. Hence, the program for urban superhighways.

The roads administration's views have not prevented construction of open road expressways like the Pennsylvania Turnpike, which is now being extended to reach from Philadelphia to the Ohio line. But the agency nevertheless rates this type of highway as generally wasteful, especially when it is a costly toll road.

Congress must act on the PRA's program and we think it ought to command the lawmakers' respectful attention. In these days of expensive planning in Washington, it would have been easy for the agency to come up with a dazzling but utterly impractical prospectus. Instead it has produced a realistic plan that looks like a sound investment in life-saving.

The Lady Who Turns Different Colors

BY HAL BOYLE

New York—Mrs. Marnie Honecker is a real odd job lady. She earns a living turning her hair different colors—as many as eight to ten times a day. So far as she knows she is unique in her field. This chameleon-like existence is her own idea. She thought up the job of color rinse tester herself. Five years ago she went to work as a technician in the Nestle-Lemur laboratory at Meriden, Conn., which manufactures hair rinses. She was assigned to help mix colors. Mrs. Honecker is something of a perfectionist. After a time she went to her boss and asked: "How can we be absolutely sure we are getting the right shade in each color when we're just mixing chemicals? Why not test each vat of color rinse on real hair? Then we can be certain."

She volunteered. It was pointed out to her that if different models were used for varying texture of their hair would make it difficult for the laboratory experts to maintain exact color standards. "Then just use one girl," suggested Mrs. Honecker. "Who?"

"No, I'm just a guinea pig," said Mrs. Honecker. It took a little talking by her companions then to assure the policeman she wasn't a fugitive from a psychopathic ward.

The altar was banked with ferns and baskets of flowers. Preceding the ceremony, which was performed at 2:30 p. m., Miss Joyce Shimpf, sister of the bride, sang "Always" and "Because." Mrs. Paul Mahan was piano accompanist and also played the traditional wedding marches. The bride wore a street length dress of aqua crepe with taffeta trimming. Her accessories were navy blue. Mrs. Lawrence Tudor of Greenville, a sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor, and Mr. Tudor served as best man. The bride is the daughter of Lee and Leona Shimpf of Palmyra. She is a graduate of the Lockwood School of Beauty Culture in this city, and for the last two and one-half years has been employed in Jacksonville and Virginia. ## Spray Elms At 3 Institutions

Elm trees on grounds of the Jacksonville State hospital and Illinois Schools for the Deaf and Blind have been given a generous treatment of DDT solution to protect them from disease. A spray machine mounted on a truck moved around the grounds at each institution, sending the solution into the highest trees. The spray outfit has been moved to Springfield to spray elms surrounding the governor's mansion, and will also be used at the Lincoln state school and colony. State officials are hopeful that application of DDT will protect trees on institutional grounds from phloem necrosis, a scourge which has killed thousands of elms in Illinois.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

(This series of questions and answers is presented in order that you may be better informed about the operations of Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance. Additional questions should be directed to the Social Security Administration at Springfield, Mrs. Margaret Chapin, Social Security Representative, is in Jacksonville each Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the U. S. Employment office.)

Q. Do wages earned after a man is 65 years old count toward social security?
A. Yes. Wages after age 65 count the same as wages earned earlier—so long as they are for work that comes under social security.
Q. If I get social security payments, will I have to sign over my home?
A. No. I'll be 65 next month and the place where I work retires all employees at 65. I don't like the idea of having to sign away my home though.
Q. You will not have to sign away your home to anyone because of getting old-age and survivors insurance payments under the Social Security Act. Those payments are made because of your work in jobs under social security—they're insurance payments. They're paid regardless of whatever property or money you may have.

Q. Can a man go back to work after he has gotten social security retirement payments?
A. Yes. A man told me he could get social security payments but he wouldn't do anything about it. He says he will get another job and that it will pay him more than social security. But right now he really isn't strong enough to work. Could he get payments now?
A. Your husband should apply for his social security payments even if he expects to get another job. Getting those payments doesn't mean he can't go back to work again. If he gets another job, he just lets the social security office know and the payments are stopped until he stops work again. His social security payments will be stopped for any month when he earns more than $14.99 a month on a job that comes under social security. In the meantime he can get payments while he's looking for a job. If he has been out of work for a year, he's already lost about 9 months' payments, because the law says back payments can be made only for the three months before a claim is filed. If you are also 65, you can get payments for yourself—your payments would amount to one-half as much as his.

Q. Is there any way for me to keep up my social security?
A. If you have paid social security taxes for about 6 years. Then when my boss died, I bought the shop. Now I don't come under social security because I'm in business for myself but I'd like to keep up my social security and I'd be willing to pay the tax voluntarily.
Q. There is no way for you to keep up your social security insurance if your business is not incorporated—unless the Social Security Act should be changed so that self-employed people are brought under the system. The wages you were paid before you bought the shop will remain credited to your account and if you work in the future on a job that comes under social security, your wages will be added to your account.

What Price Whiskers? $5 & Costs Says Judge

Carrollton—The right of a man to wear whiskers if he so desires was upheld in the court of Justice Walter Postlewaite who granted a judgment of $5 and costs in the case of David Ambrose against Roscoe Otten, barber in a local shop.

Ambrose, a Carrollton resident who has worn whiskers for 30 years, had planned to attend a family reunion in August in Berkeley Springs, Va., with his whiskers in prime condition. He hailed Otten, a barber, into court when Otten inadvertently ran clippers through the whiskers while cutting Ambrose' hair. Immediately following the incident, Ambrose consulted an attorney who at first refused the case but later accepted when it became apparent that Ambrose really intended to press the charge. Ambrose was represented in court by the firm of Hutchens and Alford. Otten appeared without counsel and pleaded in his own defense that he couldn't understand the orders which were given him by Ambrose when he sat down in his chair. Ambrose is now busy engaged in growing another set of whiskers in the path of the clippers and grooming the remaining ones to hide the blemish.

Cards Gain On Bums With Crucial 3-1 Win

White Sox Wallop Athletics 12-0 With 8 Run First

Chicago, July 22.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox scored eight runs in the first inning and went on to hand the Philadelphia Athletics a 12-0 lacing before 23,365 persons here tonight. Randy Gumpert scored his second shutout by pitching the distance for the 14th time this season on a yield of four hits. It was his eighth victory.

The White Sox sent 14 men to bat in their biggest inning of the season against Carl Scheib, who pitched all the way on a yield of 18 hits, along with issuing eight bases on balls.

In between the first and last Chicago innings Scheib was a runless pitcher on a yield of six hits. Then the White Sox broke loose again in the eighth, scoring four runs on as many hits.

First baseman Charlie Kress paced the White Sox to their 8th win in the past 12 games with three singles and a double in five official times. In suffering their 13th loss in the past 16 games, the A's got only one runner as far as third base. Elmer Valo tripped with one out in the first inning.

Every Chicago batter got at least one hit. Philadelphia . . . 000 000—0 4 3. Chicago . . . 800 000 04—12 18 1.

Scheib and Guerra; Gumpert and Malone.

Palica Hailed As 'New Casey' In Brooklyn

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Erv Palica is hailed as "The New Casey" in Brooklyn where the hard-pitched Dodgers today open a vital four-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Day after day Palica is waved from the bullpen to save the skins of a regular Brooklyn starter just like Hugh Casey used to do. Erv worked in seven of the last 11 Dodger games, winning four and losing one.

Ironically he capped his seventh victory of the season yesterday because Casey, the old Brooklyn fireman, now with Pittsburgh failed to stop a Dodger uprising. Luis Olino, who may be the prize of the returning Mexican jumpers, nicked Casey for a game-winning "pinch" single that supplied Brooklyn's 7-6 edge over the Pirates.

Casey wasn't charged with the loss, that went to Lefty Bill Werle, who had put the winning run on base. But it was Casey who dished up the game-clincher on his second relief pitch.

New York Stock Market

New York, July 22.—(AP)—A flurry of demand for air line stocks stirred the surface of a placid market today.

A couple of Air Transport issues climbed to new 1949 highs. The balance of the market jogged along unevenly, with fractional gains and losses thoroughly mixed.

Only a limited amount of business was done. Turnover was at the rate of around 750,000 shares for the full session, less than any other day this week.

Trading in an otherwise quiet bond market was highlighted by transfer of a block of $5,352,000 face value of American Telephone 3 1/8's of 1959 at a price of 110 1/4, a gain of 1 point. The deal was one of the largest that bond men have handled in a long time.

Renewal Of Flour Buying Brings On Spurt In Wheat

Chicago, July 22.—(AP)—A renewal of flour buying, both from private and government sources, sparked an upturn in wheat on the Board of Trade today.

The government purchased flour equal to only 317,381 bushels of wheat, but purchases by a large chain baker were much larger. As a result, mills were good buyers of wheat futures.

Trading in July futures was closed out without any excitement, except in soybeans. The July contract there rose to $2.78, a new high since trading in the delivery started last November. But it fell back from that level.

Corn and rye tended lower in a quiet trade while oats held steady as eastern demand for the cash grain picked up.

Receipts were: wheat 225 cars, corn 131, oats 284, rye 20, barley 36, soybeans 14.

July wheat ended 1/2 cent lower at $1.98-$2.00, July corn 3/4 cent lower at $1.39-1.41, July oats 1/2 cent higher at 68 to 64, July rye 1/2 cent lower at $1.52, July soybeans 7 1/2 cents higher at $2.80-$2.82 and July hard 22 cents a hundred pounds lower at $11.15.

Deferred wheat futures were 1-1/2 higher, corn 1 to 1 cent lower, oats 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, rye 1/2 to 1 cent lower, soybeans 1/2 lower to 1 cent higher and hard 5 cents lower to 2 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Byrne Beats Tigers 4th Time As Yanks Take 8-2 Contest

Detroit, July 22.—(AP)—Left-hander Tommy Byrne of the New York Yankees tamed the Detroit Tigers for the fourth time this season as he beat them 8 to 2 on a five-hitter tonight.

The crowd of 51,076 saw Byrne beat the Tigers' ace righthander Virgil Trucks for the third time in their four meetings this season.

The Yankees' ace left-hander survived a very shaky first inning in which he gave the Tigers their two runs on three walks and two hits, one of them Pat Mullin's sixth homer of the season.

Byrne got great support from the Yankees as they banged out a dozen hits and came up with three double plays to make his task easier.

The game was just about settled in the fourth inning when the Yankees, who were leading 3 to 2, maul-ed Trucks and sent him to the showers.

The fireworks started with one out as Charley Keller walloped his first homer of the season. Snuffy Stirrweiss walked and pitcher Byrne then filed out for number two.

Trucks lost his stuff as he walked Hank Bauer and Phil Rizzuto to load the bases. He then walked Tommy Henrich, forcing in Stirrweiss with run number four.

Joe DiMaggio then got his only hit in five official times at bat, a single to left scoring Bauer and Rizzuto to make it 7 to 2 and bring Marv Grissom in to pitch for the Tigers.

Grissom and Stubby Overmire held the Yankees pretty well in check the rest of the way.

Boston Red Sox Take 4-2 Decision From Browns

St. Louis, July 22.—(AP)—Vern Stephens blasted his 24th home run and Ted Williams his 23rd of the season tonight in leading the Boston Red Sox to a 4-2 verdict over the St. Louis Browns. Mel Parnell went the route and gave up only six hits.

The Browns left nine men stranded as Parnell bore down in the pitcher. Ned Garver went the route for St. Louis and gave up only six hits.

Williams hit to the top of the right field pavilion in the eighth for his homer.

Stephens slammed one into the left field bleachers in the second to start the on-base scoring. Singles by Billy Goodman and Parnell and three bases on balls accounted for two more runs in the same inning.

Dom DiMaggio extended to 17 the number of consecutive games in which he has hit safely by punching a single to right in the seventh.

Dick Kokos reached first on an error by Goodman in the fourth, advanced on a single by Wiley Platt and scored when Roy Sievers hit into a forceout. Sherman Lollar singled and scored the final Brown-run on a double by Bob Dillinger in the fifth.

Parnell forced Kokos to foul out with the final out of the game with the tying run on base.

Phillies Defeat Cincinnati 2 To 1

Philadelphia, July 22.—(AP)—Fine relief pitching by Robin Roberts enabled the Philadelphia Phillies to defeat the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 in the first game of the series tonight.

Roberts' reliever Russ Meyer with the bases loaded and none out in the eighth and allowed the Reds only one run.

Meyer held the Reds in check until the eighth when he weakened and walked Claude Corbitt and pinch hitter Danny Litwiler. Harry Walker beat out a bunt, loading the bases.

Roberts came onto the scene and forced Peanut Lowery to pop out but Corbitt scored as Grady Hatton forced Walker.

STEAM ENGINE AND THRESHER INTERESTING TO VISITORS

You'd have to travel pretty far these days to see an old time steam engine puffing away at the job of spinning a threshing machine. That is, unless you live in Morgan county.

Monday. They'll be busy in an oats field near the old Bill Calhoun farm, northeast of Rees Station.

The photo shows Mr. Rees standing at the controls of a 30-year-old smoke-puffing double-cylinder, 19 horse, Keck-Gonnerman engine. Dick Richey and his son are feeding the thresher and James R. Seymour, long time thresherman of the Providence community, is standing on top.

George McClain, separator man, is on the ground looking at the feeder Ralph Johnson of New Berlin hurries his father, William, toward the engine for "a good look at it."

Ralph was one of the many youngsters of this area who saw a threshing outfit in operation for the first time.

For one reason or another, some of the male visitors had to crawl on a load of bundles and see whether they were as handy with a pitchfork as they once were. Ermer Middendorf, center, was no exception. He paused for a moment to see how he was doing in the eyes of his three young daughters.

Others in the picture of Richey, Rackman, Wendell, Claussen and Mr. McClain.

But there were some other cooks, cooks who reared greasy fried potatoes, fried salt pork, strong gravy and bread pudding. Cooks and their reputations had much to do with the efficiency of a crew. Old time threshers could have learned a lesson from the crew who were working on the place and the handle of the pump worked for at least 30 strokes to insure cool water in the pipe. Then the containers were rinsed out, filled, and stoppered with a fresh corn cove.

The program went something like this. One two-gallon keg slaved with the engine all the time. The other two and two jugs were hauled to the best well on the place and the handle of the pump worked for at least 30 strokes to insure cool water in the pipe. Then the containers were rinsed out, filled, and stoppered with a fresh corn cove.

The first stop was at the engine where the kegs were switched, the fresh one for the stale one. Then, the men who were loading the rack wagons. We always went to the wagon and pitcher that was farthest away. For some reason, those two men were always the driest men of the crowd.

The rig in 1918 had ten rack wagons and seven pitchers. The pitchers were regarded as rather irresponsible men, either unable or unwilling to accept the care of a team and wagon. Our Low Dutch neighbors always had trouble calling them pitchers, they termed the pitchers "floaters."

Quite a few of the crew were "floaters," transients who followed the threshing season. Every gang contained at least four individuals: "Windy" talked all day and seldom told the truth; "Silent" kept to himself and didn't say a half-dozen words a day; everybody said, "Happy" must have fallen out of his high-chair when he was an infant. And then there was "Goose."

The big event of every day was dinner. One of the most pleasant periods of the day was when about half of the crew sauntered into the yard, washed up with tar soap and pinned on a clean shirt.

The youth was attended by Dr. Wallace MacMillen of Winchester and Dr. Paul Hartley of Jacksonville.

This is the first such case reported in Winchester.

Winchester Youth Victim Of Polio

Winchester—Eugene Rogers, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rogers, was admitted to St. John's hospital, Springfield, Friday afternoon with poliomyelitis.

The youth was attended by Dr. Wallace MacMillen of Winchester and Dr. Paul Hartley of Jacksonville.

This is the first such case reported in Winchester.

Mad Killer Captured Here Dies In Chair

Columbus, O., July 22—(AP)—James C. Olsinski, 40, of Toledo, who killed three persons with a gun and left his own child to die of exposure, was executed tonight in Ohio's electric chair.

Olsinski was put to death for the murder of his pregnant wife, Loretta, and parents-in-law, Raymond and Louise Dillmer, in Toledo on Dec. 13, 1947. He fled after the crime, leaving his two baby sons alone in the house with the victims.

The slayings were discovered four days later. By then, Joan Olsinski's 18-month-old son was dead of exposure. The other child survived.

Olsinski was captured several weeks later at Jacksonville, Ill.

The capture of James C. Olsinski in Jacksonville aroused national interest at the time. Olsinski after fleeing Toledo, wandered through Indiana and got a job in Decatur, Mo.

To avoid the arm of the law, he told a Decatur county judge he was insane and asked to be committed to an asylum. Sent to Jacksonville State hospital he was given routine fingerprint tests. These were sent to the F.B.I. who compared them with prints taken from the scene of the crime.

Olsinski was picked up and returned to Ohio.
